MONEY

KEATS[®]

Exchange Money

The money can be exchanged at Industrial and Commercial Bank of China. The life advisor can take you to the Industrial and Commercial Bank of China after you arrive. It is better to prepare some RMB before you leave for China. RMB 500 to RMB 1000 yuan should be enough.

How to buy a SIM card

If you need to purchase a Chinese phone card, China Unicom is generally chosen because the staff at China Unicom's business offices are familiar with the procedures for foreigners to open phone cards. To purchase a phone card, you need to pre-deposit 100 yuan in phone charges. The advisor can take you to get a SIM card.

KEATS[®]

ATM Cash Withdraw

If you use a foreign credit card at a Chinese ATM, you can withdraw RMB cash, with a limit of RMB 2000 per withdrawal. Transaction fees may be high because this is an overseas transaction.

Please inform your bank in advance that you will use your credit or debit card in China. Many students have had their cards blocked when withdrawing money in Nanjing, as their home bank suspected fraudulent activity.

Shopping in China

Many small local shops in Nanjing do not accept foreign credit cards. VISA or Mastercard can only be used at major shopping malls, hotels and some large restaurants. It is recommended to carry some cash for daily purchases. Local people usually pay by mobile phone with WeChat Pay or Alipay. You may also use WeChat Pay or Alipay if you bind a valid foreign card to your account, though payment may fail at some merchants.

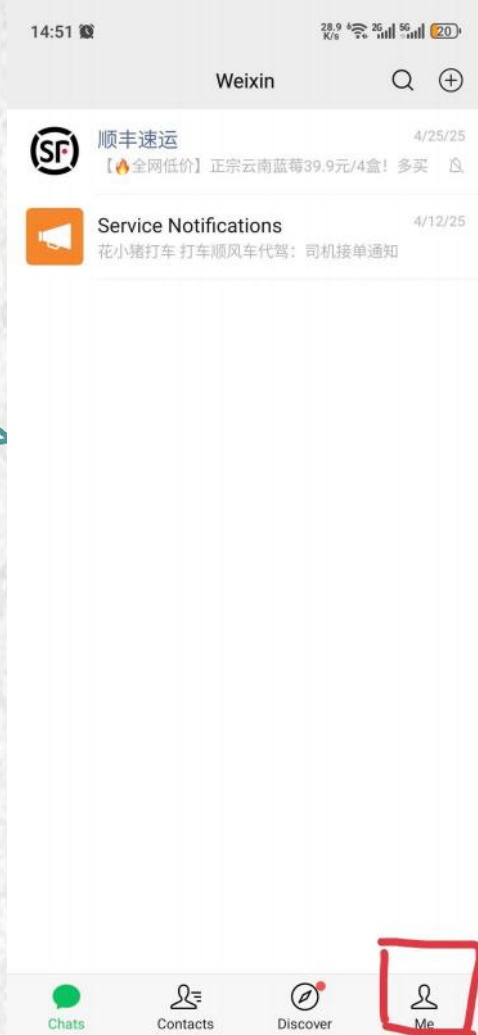

How to use Alipay and Wechat

WeChat and Alipay now support foreign users to bind with visa or master and other foreign credit cards to use. However, there are certain restrictions on usage scenarios, the transactions can only be conducted with merchants that support or have foreign credit cards such as Visa and Master. Except for large supermarkets or shopping malls, many small stores or online stores on Taobao and Jingdong do not support payment with foreign currency credit cards.
